

Stanley® — Breakstem Fasteners, Speed Fasteners, Threaded Inserts, Self-Piercing & Blind Rivets

For more than 40 years, Stanley Engineered Fastening has been revolutionizing fastening and assembly technologies for a variety of industries. Stanley Engineered Fastening has a broad range of products to assist you in your application needs including the Avdel® and iForm™.

Stanley's close customer relationships allow for early involvement in the design and development of new projects and programs. From the very beginning of the design process, they are a true partner, ensuring that the fastener selection, installation method, and assembly layout are optimized prior to the start of production. This guarantees that fastening will not be an issue when it comes time for product assembly. Stanley and Hardware Specialty's extensive field service network is there to ensure rapid onsite response to any customer issue.

Stanley Engineered Fastening also provides a cost-effective tooling and installation process. The Stanley emphasis on a total fastening system ensures that a customer's "in place" assembly cost is driven to an absolute minimum.

Anything that is manufactured is touched by Stanley. There is virtually no industry in which a Stanley product, installation tool or system is not used.
